A FRIEND FLAYS GARVER

Last Sabbath morning the Rev. Christian R. Garver, pastor of the Methodist church in Ogden, declared in his sermon to his congregation that "Senator Reed Smoot stood out openly on the side of the liquor question." I measure my words when I say that Pastor Garver uttered a deliberate falsehood if he said what The Standard-Examiner reports he said. I hold no brief for Senator Smoot, nor for the Republican party; there they are! I believe them and thank God for endorsing them with a patriotic ardor that has made America the boast of her people and the envy of nations beyond her horizon.

I love my country, nor age nor the withering blight of disease can make me dumb while the good God gives me the faculty of thinking and power of expression when political defilements assail her with calumny and seek her gentle, so-called, and in this gathering twilight of life I look back with pride that I stood a member of the legislature of my state and seconded the nomination of Reed Smoot, a Mormon apostle, to be a senator of the United States and time has more than justified my act.

Reed Smoot put Utah on the map of the world and made her respected today as is no other state of the union. Senator Reed Smoot all his life has advocated sobriety in all things, and that includes the liquor question. The United States has adopted prohibition as an amendment, and that amendment is now a part of the constitution of our country. The liquor question is dead and should be buried and why should a minister of the gospel seek to finger a cold dead corpse? "Let the dead past bury its dead."

Parson Garver came here a stranger and by his amiability he has gathered about him a city full of devoted friends and the undersigned among them, and now on the eve of his going away he is to forfeit the love of those who had learned to love him? My friend Garver, attend to the needs of your flock and do not seek to poison the reputation of a patriot.

I alone am responsible for what I say and I pay for this advertisement. A. S. CONDON.

OGDEN HUNTERS COLTON TO SPEAK GET FIVE DEER HERE SATURDAY

Three Mountain Lions Also Bagged by Commissioner Ward and Others

Bringing with them five deer and three mountain lions, J. Ray Ward, commissioner of public safety and a party of friends returned to Ogden yesterday after a two weeks' hunting trip in the northwestern part of the state. Mr. Ward had postponed his summer vacation in order that the deer hunt might be staged. Those in the party besides Mr. Ward were Captain Harold H. Wardleigh of the fire department and his son, Ray, John G. Gebhart and Parley Pascoe.

The deer the hunters brought to Ogden were all large and some of them, six-pointers. They were killed in the Grouse Creek district.

The largest mountain lion was killed by Captain Wardleigh after he had shot and wounded a deer. The lion tracked the deer which left a track of blood and Captain Wardleigh maneuvered into a position on a hill and shot the lion from a distance of 400 yards. The skin of the animal was secured and during the return trip was placed on the tonneau of one of the automobiles. At some point between Brigham City and Ogden it dropped from the machine and was lost; the members of the party said.

Mr. Wardleigh said the bucks are scarce in the Grouse Creek district, although the country abounds with deer. He expressed the opinion that the law should soon be changed to protect the mules for a few seasons.

Registration of Ogden Voters Heavy

Indications that registration of voters was unusually heavy yesterday, the final registration day, came to the headquarters of both the Republican and Democratic headquarters this morning, although nothing definite can be determined in regard to figures for another day at least. It is believed that the registration for the coming election has broken all records. Judging from the amount of interest which has been displayed in the campaign. Practically every place of registration was crowded last night with last-minute voters who wanted to make certain of being considered eligible of casting their ballot next Tuesday.

SUES PAIR FOR INJURY TO WIFE

G. A. Moulding Starts Action Seeking Damages of $7450 Following Accident

Holding the companionship and association of his wife for a period of nine months as worth $2250, G. A. Moulding has filed suit in the district court against Alma Moulding and Mary Moulding, who, he claims, deprived him of his wife through striking her with their automobile and making it necessary for her to remain in a hospital during that period. Mr. Moulding further claims that his wife is permanently injured and unable to work for the remainder of her life and asks $5000 in addition for damages. He also asks for $290 for medical bills and hospital care.

In the complaint filed by Mr. Moulding he sets forth that his wife, Eliza A. Moulding, was struck by an automobile owned by the defendants and being driven by Mary Moulding. The accident, he complains, occurred September 13, 1919, at Lincoln avenue and Twenty-sixth street, when his wife, in crossing the intersection, was knocked down and dragged by the automobile.

He further claims that no warning was given of the approaching car and it was being driven at a rate of speed exceeding thirty miles an hour. As a result of the accident, Mr. Moulding claims his wife is permanently injured and will be an invalid for life. His total claims amount to $7450. Royal J. Douglas is attorney for the plaintiff.

TOWN PROTESTS FARE INCREASE

Walter Ellingson Attends Hearing in Providence Case at Salt Lake

Traffic Manager Walter Ellingson represented the Utah-Idaho Central railroad at the meeting of the public utilities commission at Salt Lake yesterday. A protest against a 10 cent proposed increase in fare for one way from Providence, was heard with representatives of the town of Providence, of the railroad and citizens taking part in the arguments.

The petition of the Utah-Idaho Central was heard in Ogden several days ago and at that time no protest was made. It was, however, explained yesterday that the people of Providence had not been notified of the proposed change. At the time the Ogden meeting was held, the commission requested Mr. Ellingson to inform the citizens of that city of the proposed change.

Mayor H. B. Campbell represented Providence at the meeting yesterday together with H. W. Fricke, director of the traffic service bureau of Utah. These men contended that an increase in fare was out of the question, stating that the journey from Providence into Logan was but a few miles.

Commissioner Ellingson pointed out to them that the purchasing power of 5 cents, the present one-way rate, has decreased heavily during the past few years and that even in Salt Lake City, where street car traffic is dense, it had been found necessary by the commission to apply a 7-cent fare. He asked Mr. Ellingson if a round trip ticket for 15 cents would not be acceptable to the railroad company, but the official pointed out that the other interurban railroads in Utah have a minimum one-way fare of 15 cents and round trip of 25 cents. He contended that the conditions at Providence and at some other points on his line had been taken into consideration when the application was made for a 10 and 20 cent rate, instead of those in effect on other lines.

The committee suggested that the morning and evening trains between Providence and Logan might be continued before this date, although the sidings as work trains and the fare court may hear some non-jury cases.

for this trip be made 5 cents on each of these.

The case, which had been reopened to hear the protest of yesterday, was again taken under advisement by the commission.

Continues Jury Cases as Aid to Farmers

In order that farmers in Weber county may devote their entire time to the harvest of crops and the digging of beets before the freezing period comes, Judge A. W. Agee of the district court has announced that all jury cases have been continued until November 23. No hearings are scheduled before this date, although the sidings as work trains and the fare court may hear some non-jury cases.

Conductor Appointed Carlin Trainmaster

R. R. Richard, for many years a conductor on the Southern Pacific lines, with headquarters at Sacramento, has been named trainmaster of the Southern Pacific with headquarters at Carlin, Nevada, according to Supt. E. L. King of the Salt Lake division.

Richard will assume charge of his new position November 1. He is one of the oldest employees on the Southern Pacific lines and is known to thousands of passengers who have traveled east and west over that road during the past fifteen years.

The position of trainmaster at Carlin is a new one, according to Supt. King. It is expected that the new position at Carlin will aid in bettering the passenger service.

HERBERT HOOVER Says,-

To have obstinately held up the peace of the world for eighteen months, with its fearful cost to ourselves and millions of helpless people, to have rejected the opportunity of amicable adjustment, is the greatest failure of American statesmanship since the Civil War. The "Solemn referendum" is not on the League, it is on the failure of the Democratic party.
